

GOLF LINKS
TO THE PAST

Felton Bookbinding is amongst the finest bookbinderies in the world. Keith Felton and his fellow master artisans embrace 15th century European bookbinding traditions, and over the years have skillfully handcrafted and restored numerous projects for our company. Golf Links to the Past is proud to be partnered with Felton Bookbinding in the offering of their highly collectible leather bound editions.

By sourcing the most luxurious archival materials from all over the globe – Felton has been able to consistently deliver unparalleled craftsmanship because he and his fellow binders have turned their passion for bookbinding into an art form unto itself. Together they represent 125 years of experience in the art of binding fine leather books. Their goal is perfection of craft, which means that each and every challenge receives the same exacting care and attention -- resulting in an end product that is nothing short of spectacular.

If you seek the exquisite – than I uncompromisingly recommend Felton Bookbinding for your next binding project.
